Sweeney, Halone Co-Head Hallowe'en Pun'kin Pow-Wow

Look out! Beware! The ghosts and witches are hovering everywhere, making sure you won't miss the Punkin Pow-Wow tomorrow evening.

This will be the first mixer of the quarter to be sponsored by the AWSSU. A "bewitching" time is assured everyone by Co-Chairmen Ann Sweeney and Marilyn Halone.

Dancing will be from 9 to 12, to the music of Gordon Greene and his Orchestra at the Encore Ballroom.

Tickets are on sale today and Friday at the Information Booth. They may also be obtained at the door Friday evening. Admission to the dance is 75 cents.

Vets Allotment To Depend On Monthly Report

All Korean veterans must report to the Veterans Office in the Liberal Arts Building on the first of each month to sign a VA attendance form. This form states that they have attended classes regularly at Seattle University for the previous month, and makes them eligible for monthly subsistence checks. Failure to report promptly will result in a delay in receiving the check.

The VA office on campus will be closed on Saturdays, Sundays, and school holidays. If the first of the month falls on one of these days, the veteran must report on the previous day.

This notice applies to any person who entered any branch of the Armed Forces of the United States on or after June 27, 1950, and is at present attending Seattle University under either Public Law 550 or Public Law 894.

The Retreat is an integral and important part of the school year. All students are obliged to attend their proper section. Each exercise will be strictly checked for absentees, and these will be counted against the student's record.

Dean of Faculty.

AWSSU Girls Don Cotton and Organdy For Apple Sale

Bright red apples will be the feature attraction in SU halls on Tuesday, Nov. 4. This yearly Apple Sale is sponsored by the Associated Women Students of Seattle U.

Easily recognizable in bright cotton dresses and white organdy aprons, the girls will be peddling their baskets of apples in the halls of Buhr Hall and the Liberal Arts, Science, and Engineering Buildings throughout Election Day.

Co-chairmen of the event are Joanne Schuck and Dona Donaldson. Assisting them will be over 30 girls who registered with the Activities Board.

'Variety Review of '52' Features Surprise Acts

By DENNIS O'BRIEN

"Variety Review of '52" opens Tuesday, Nov. 18. Co-sponsored by the Mu Sigma and the Chancellor Club, it will run four days at the Woman's Century Club.

Previously, SU and the Chancellor Club sponsored separate shows. This year, they are combining their talents to produce a larger, more professional show.

NOTICE

Al Canwell, originally announced to speak Friday, has been rescheduled to talk on "Communism" Monday, Nov. 3, in Room 412 at 11 a.m.

'Catholics Lack Curiosity in Their Religion,' Lunn

"People have a certain duty to keep their minds as well as their souls in order," Arnold Lunn, English writer and lecturer, stated at SU earlier this week.

Mr. Lunn has been staying at Seattle U. for a few days before he continues his lecture tour of the United States. A convert to the Catholic religion, he believes that many Catholics display a "tragic lack of curiosity in their religion." His entrance into the Church was stimulated by an interest in the Catholic doctrine of the Resurrection. One of his books, The Third Day, is based on the study of this doctrine.

The 64-year-old author is well known for his interest in skiing. The slalom race, his invention, is used all over the world. With some of his lectures he shows a film of skiing shots taken in Switzerland.

Displaying an interest in American politics, Mr. Lunn believes that Stevenson will win in the Nov. 4 elections. A recent political TV broadcast drew his attention, but generally he sees television as "a synthetic form of amusement."

Arnold Lunn has several books to his credit, including Now I See, the story of his conversion.

The production will include a singing and dancing chorus, specialty acts, skits, and an excerpt from a famous Broadway stage play. At the premiere, a surprise performer will participate in the show.

Rehearsals in Little Theater

All rehearsals are conducted in the Little Theater on Campus. Jack Johnson, senior, is student Review director.

A special, second-level stage is being built into the seating section to bring the show closer to the audience. Also, new lighting equipment has been installed in the clubhouse theater.

Tickets go on sale Monday, Nov. 3, at the Information Booth in the Liberal Arts Building. Prices are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. SU students will be given free tickets upon presentation of their student body cards.

Initial Ed. Meeting Scheduled Tonight; M. Lecture Guest

The first regular meeting of the Education Club is set for tonight, Thursday, at 7:30 in Room 119.

Guest speaker will be Mr. Myrdie Lecture, assistant superintendent of schools in the Shoreline District and a former Seattle University faculty member.

Entertainment and refreshments will follow the meeting. All Education majors are urged to attend.

Officers for the coming year are: Mike Feeney, president; Helen Ford, vice president; Peggy Doohan, secretary, and Vic LeVesque, treasurer.

Melia, Dennison, O'Brien Financial Board Appointees

Three students have been named by Father Lemieux to serve on the Financial Board for the current school year. The appointees, Jody Melia, Rod Dennison, and Ed O'Brien, will work together with Frank Brown, ASSU treasurer, in regulating the finances of all student body organizations.

According to the ASSU constitution, all club expenditures must be approved by the board, and a definite procedure has been formulated which should be followed for every activity.

The submitting of a financial estimate is the first requirement of this procedure. This estimated budget for the activity is to be filled out on forms available in the Student Body Office. It must then be presented to the Financial Board for approval in the ASSU office between 12 noon and 12:15 of any day. Provision should be made for a lapse of one day before approval. Requisitions Filed

After receiving approval, the estimate is then presented to Father Kane in the Treasurer's Office, to obtain requisitions for expenses. Within 48 hours after the activity, the actual report is submitted to both Treasurer's Office and the ASSU Office. No further estimate shall be approved unless a financial report for the organization's last activity has been properly filed.

LAST CHANCE

Aegis pictures for juniors, sophomores and freshmen will be taken for the last time next week. Pictures are taken from 10 to 1 o'clock on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday in the third floor lounge.

The last chance for senior pictures will be Monday, Nov. 10.

Dave Sergent Voted Engineer President

Dave Sergent, senior, was recently elected president of the Engineers Club. Other officers are: Michael Delorenzo, vice president; Bob Balanger, secretary-treasurer, and Bernie Skahill, sergeant-at-arms.

Mr. Henry Berring, educational director of the Weston Instrument Corporation, lectured on Electrical Indicating Instruments.

Plans are now being considered for the establishment of a Civil Service Engineering group. The next meeting is set for November 19 at Buhr Hall at 7:30 a.m.

Specs of News

The 50-cent increase in the student body fee this year will enable students to attend events scheduled by the Music Department, upon presentation of their student body cards. These include the Variety Show, the Operetta, and the Gems from Light Opera.

McHugh Hall will hold its traditional Hallowe'en Fireside tonight at 7:30. Dancing and games will provide the evening's entertainment. Hallowe'en refreshments of cider and doughnuts will be served. Guest for the evening will be the girls from Sarazin Hall. Chairman for the Fireside is Hugh Weber.

Remember, girls, you have only a week to get your date for the Sadie Hawkins Tolo! The dance will be held Friday, Nov. 7, at the Palladium. Ted Carper's orchestra will play from 9:30 to 12:30.

SPEC'S second annual all-school Skating Party is set for Nov. 8 at the Ridge Roller Rink.

The "Cheap Skate" will last from 10:15 to 12:30 and admission is 50 cents. A prize will be awarded to the worst skater present.

LaCugna Opens Lecture Series

Charles LaCugna, head of the SU Political Science Department, will give the opening address of the current lecture season sponsored by the CCD tonight, at 8 p.m., in Room 219.

"The world is never in a crisis," said Mr. LaCugna, "Man is always in a moral personal crisis. The solution is YOUR job."

Trustee of the World Affairs Council of Seattle and member of the Northwest Political Science Association, Mr. LaCugna has been speaker at many Holy Name meetings.

His favorite theme, practical sanctity, is expressed by Mr. LaCugna as vital and personal to each student. His discussion will provide a basis for the entire series devoted to the idea that each person has an essential job to fulfill. Group discussion will follow the talk.

A candidate for Ph.D. at Notre Dame University, Professor LaCugna was very active in Catholic Action at Notre Dame.

Augustavo, Chihara Head APO Pledges

APO pledges elected officers at their October 22 meeting. They are: John Augustavo, president; Charlie Chihara, vice president; Eddie Laigo, secretary; Jerry Schrapps, treasurer, and John G. Ward, sergeant-at-arms.

First project of the pledges is to paint division lines in the new parking lot. There are approximately 30 pledges in the service organization.

Inactive members recently challenged the actives to a football game which was played Sunday, Oct. 26. The actives won 14-12.

Extension

Masses will be offered for deceased relatives and friends during the month of November. Names of those for whom masses are to be offered can be placed in the envelopes on the Bulletin Boards in the LA, Science and Engineering Buildings, and Buhr Hall. They will also be found on the pews of the chapel.

Envelopes will then be put in the basket on the left side of the altar.

THE SPEC has many daily visitors, but this week we had the privilege of meeting a fellow journalist on an interesting mission. Dieter Storp, a German correspondent, works for the Catholic magazine, Feuerreiter ("Fiery Horseman"), published in Cologne. During the war the magazine was suppressed by Hitler and was not revived until 1945.

Dieter on a five-week tour of the United States, is viewing our Catholic institutions and publications. While at SU, he took several pictures and asked questions about our campus life and customs.

Catholic co-ed colleges are unknown in Germany, so Dieter took many notes for the story he will write when he returns home.

What ever happened to the idea of a "Lost-and-Found" Department? It appears to have been lost in some dark recess. We have three active service organizations at SU. How about it? —YOUR EDITOR.

Concerning Politics

AL ACENA

With politics and world affairs dominating the present-day scene, THE SPECTATOR decided to consult an illustrious personality and learn his views on the topics of the hour. Our roving reporter called on Mr. William Shakespeare, who was kind enough to give us an interview. What now follows is the repartee between our man and the Bard of Avon:

Reporter: To begin with, Mr. Shakespeare, what is your attitude on the present-day situation?

Will: In every mess have folly.¹

Reporter: In the presidential election which party do you prefer?

Will: I would show what party I do follow...²

Reporter (eager): Well, Mr. Shakespeare, which one?

Will (annoyed): Thou shalt never get such a secret from me!³

Reporter: In that case what is your opinion of the party you do not prefer?

Will: The devil take one party!⁴

Reporter: What do you think about the political verbal garbage which assails on radio and TV.

Will: My tears are now prevailing orators.⁵

Reporter: Mr. Shakespeare, in your experience as a successful playwright, you have written many bright soliloquies. Speaking then as a speech-writer, what do you consider the ideal length for a speech?

Will: A speech of some dozen or sixteen lines.⁶

Reporter: Considering the sidelights of the campaign, do you see any significance in bald-headed men running for office?

Will: This might be the pate of a politician.⁷

Reporter: Or probably, hair today and gone tomorrow?

Will: These jests are out of season!⁸

Reporter: Excuse me! To continue, what is your opinion of the presidency?

Will: 'Tis an office of great worth.⁹

Reporter: Mr. Shakespeare, a final word on the outcome of the presidential race.

Will: In the election of a sir so rare¹⁰... as the president of my kingdom, will appear¹¹... the elect of the land.¹²

Reporter: Many thanks, sir, for a gracious interview.

What to See on TV...

An unusual and worthwhile television program can be viewed on Sunday evening at 7 p.m. The Standard Hour TV show presents a series of musical vignettes, including orchestra, vocal numbers, and dancing. Each scene is presented against an interesting and artistic background.

To continue such a program by assuring favorable audience reaction to this quality of TV shows, the Standard Oil Co. would appreciate the written evaluation of those who have seen it. Letters may be addressed to Standard Oil Co. of California, 225 Bush St., San Francisco, California.

CROSS SECTION POLL OF SU STUDENTS RESULTS IN IKE-OVER-ADLAI VICTORY

● Polled by HELEN COREY

How 'Bout It?

● JERRY SCHOENBERG

Oh, ye sunny skies of California! Would that you could shed your benevolent light on our poor snow, sleet, wind, fog (that is pronounced F-O-G, isn't it?), ice, frost, rain-ridden land! So pleads Mary Rousseau, who is instigating the greatest search in America since Ponce de Leon set out to find the fountain of youth. If anyone haply knows where a 400-foot-long saw can be found, please get in touch with Mary at once. She is about to make an island of Washington and place it off the balmy coast of California.

Roses to Helen Larson and her enthusiastic decorating committee! The Palladium truly had a "barny" atmosphere. While we're on the subject of the Barn Dance, Johnny O popped a funny there last Friday. When asked if he and Ed ever danced he looked surprised. "Why, no, he never asks me."

The "Pogo" poster that was on the main bulletin board last week—has anyone noticed the reverse side of it? It would appear that one of our senators-elect is losing out in popularity to that more humorous element in the election issue.

Alas for you poor females! Your favorite joke is over for another year. No longer can you waltz up to some of us fair-haired youths, look disdainfully at our quarter inch of fuzz, and impertinently ask why we're not growing a beard for the Barn Dance.

It states in our masthead that the SPEC is a student publication. It is for each one of the SU students, in which he can take an active part.

One way is by voicing his opinion in the LETTERS TO THE EDITOR column. If you feel that there is something that you want to say to your fellow students, say it in a letter in the SPEC. All letters should be brought to the Tower by Monday noon.

Korean Student Finds Various Changes In Dress, Customs and Attitudes at SU

● CHARLOTTE VAN DYKE

In June, 1952, a quiet, unassuming Korean girl added her name to the list of foreign students attending Seattle University. Her name is Chin Won Suh—"Sue" to her friends.

Coming to school in America would seem "not possible" to a Korean girl. Sue, however, was fortunate in meeting an army officer and his wife in Korea who had gone to SU and who thought it would be quite possible. They convinced Sue that she could continue her education in the United States and helped her to make the arrangements.

Although Sue get very homesick at times, she likes Seattle U and Bordeaux Hall, where she thinks "the girls are very nice." About SU she says, "Oh, yes, I like the atmosphere and touch of... religiousness. I went to public school at home. This is a very pleasant change."

Sue's life in Korea is quite different from her life here in the States. Still she notes that western culture is gradually mixing with eastern. Students, especially, are acquiring western customs. Perhaps the most noticeable difference is in dress. Some students, Sue tells us, dress as American students might; others dress in their native costumes. Her own school dress, as pictured here, is typical of the Korean co-ed.

Sue was born and raised in Seoul. She lived there until June, 1950, when she and her family were forced to flee to Pusan. It was also about this time that her father was elected as representative to the assembly in Korea. Sue and her family were lucky in their escape, for many people who lived in Seoul were trapped above the Han River by the destruction of the bridge.

This was not the first time the people of Korea had migrated southward. Ever since the Russian occupation most of the religious people in North Korea have moved south. Predominant religions in Korea are Christianity, Buddhism, and Confucianism.

With elections less than a week off, blood pressures and interest are running high. Everyone is wondering who will be the next president of these United States. In order to measure the height of interest at SU, the SPEC undertook another poll. It is not as extensive as the political poll conducted last spring, but the results are as interesting.

In the previous poll SU students said, "We Like Ike." Apparently we still like him. According to the 200 students polled, 54 per cent prefer Eisenhower. Last spring Ike won by the same percentage, but it is not as impressive now as it was in May. Only one opponent, Stevenson, gets the remaining percentage of votes. In the former poll the remainder had been split among 10 candidates.

Speaking of the remaining percentage, in the spring Stevenson only received 2 per cent of the student vote. Kefauver, then the leading Democratic contender, polled 11.5 per cent. This is some indication of what has happened during the summer conventions.

Among the male students Adlai is more popular than Ike. SU men gave him a narrow 51 per cent advantage. The co-ed faction like Ike, 54 per cent strong.

Eisenhower kept a fair margin over Stevenson in all the different age groups, ranging from 17 to 21 years and over. As the ages advanced, his advantage over Stevenson decreased from 83 to 56 per cent of the vote.

The different fields and majors of SU students offer still another aspect to the poll. The Engineers, as in May, are still staunch Democrats. Science majors have changed camps, however, and now favor Ike. Students in Arts, Commerce and Finance, and Education have remained loyal to the Republicans. This time the Political Science majors and Pre-Law students have come to a stalemate. Eisenhower and Stevenson both get 50 per cent backing.

As before, this poll is not trying to run Gallup out of business. Also, it promises in no way to be the actual count of the pulse-beat of the nation. The poll has served its purpose if it has stimulated intelligent interest in the forthcoming election.

The war changed the course of Sue's future, as it did with many of her people. By June, 1950, she had completed six years of primary school, three years of junior high, three years of senior high, and had enrolled in college in Seoul. Then came the invasion and "nobody went to school."

Sue started work as a typist at a radio station in Pusan in April, 1951. It was through this work that she acquired her command of the English language, although she had studied English in high school.

Now Sue is a second quarter freshman and a pre-major at Seattle U. However, she hopes to finish school at SU as an anthropologist and then return home to the family she misses so much.

Sue's name, Chin Won, in a literal translation means "of uncommon or rare origin." Although students from Korea are rare at SU, Sue has become a common part of college life here.

Letters to the Editor

An Open Letter to SU Students:

"Communists! Left-wingers! Isolationists! Politicians are crooks! Government is nothing but a racket! If the Republicans win, we're taking a step back to the dark days of '29. If the Democrats win, we'll become socialistic!"

You've heard these remarks and many others like them. Maybe you've said some of them yourself; and maybe, like a lot of other people, you don't know what you're talking about! In other words, there are a lot of people who know everything about politics—but the facts!

In the past month, two very worthwhile organizations have sprung up in the midst of our many other activities here at SU. Their purpose is to give you students a REAL opportunity to find out what you're actually talking about when you talk politics. Through the Young Republican and Young Democratic Clubs, students have a chance to meet the politicians, analyze the campaign issues, and understand realistically just how the political aspect of our government works.

Many in the higher ranks of the Catholic educational field wonder why Catholic schools have not enthusiastically encouraged and stimulated the students of these universities in politics and political careers. Certainly, the common welfare of our country would be benefited if young men and young women inculcated with TRUE moral and ethical values could assume positions of importance in the legislative, judicial, and administrative branches of the federal government.

Here at Seattle University, with the enthusiastic support and cooperation of our President, Father Lemieux, and the faculty, that first important step has been taken. It is now in the hands of the leaders of the two organizations, their members, and YOU, the student, to continue to stimulate interest in the men and the affairs of government. For this were the two organizations born; for this, they shall serve. Here's your chance to know what you're talking about! —DICK MANNING.

Football Notes

Feeling pretty good after hitting 8 out of 12 winners in a week where few good predictions were turned in anywhere, we again try to help you win the contest. (We tied last week.)

As it did everyone else, the Huskies' win over Stanford caused us plenty of trouble (and was also our only miss in a 60-to-1 pool). Heinrich proved he is again in 1950 form, as he further widened his passing records over all rivals. His play-calling was excellent, as was the work of the defensive platoon.

Enough about last week. Here are this week's selections: Washington will take OSC at Portland, but the Beavers will come closer than expected to a win. In another big arc down south, we see Pappy's California Bears bouncing back to edge UCLA at Berkeley, but this is a prediction we hope to miss. In the Palouse, WSC will outscore Idaho (our Cougar spy was finally right last week).

Back to the Midwest. Illinois was off form the last two weeks, and will come back to take Michigan. Ohio State will blast Northwestern in a rough TV game. Michigan State will continue to roll, this time over a tough Purdue eleven (could be an upset here). Leahy's Irish will get by the Navy.

Farther east, Penn's Quakers will power through Penn State. Moving south, Texas Christian will edge Baylor (it's in the book), and the Longhorns of Texas will be too fast for the Mustangs of Southern Methodist. The Rebels of Ole Miss will top Louisiana State, and Georgia Tech. will take a close one from Duke in a battle between two good ones.

Basketball Notes

... If the Chiefs show much more speed on the maple courts than has been evidenced so far, the pari-mutuel betting system may have to be installed for SU home games.

The boys are in good shape at this early date, and have impressed all with their terrific shooting from all over the floor. Ball Handling has been fair in early scrimmages but should improve as players get their fine sense of timing necessary in Brightman's machine.

... Showing a big improvement over last year is Joe Pehanick's play. Joe is much faster under the bucket, and is hitting quite a few tip-ins. His rebounding and defensive work is better, and his hooks are hitting the target.

... From the Athletics Office comes the good news that all SU games will be broadcast by the Tidewater Associated Oil Co. This is a big step forward, as Associated is the best known sportscaster on the Coast, and provides excellent coverage. Possible televising of contests is still uncertain.

... All home games but one will start at 8:15 p.m. The exception is for the Peoria Caterpillar aggregation, who requested a 7:30 start to permit catching a train for Moscow (Idaho).

Papooses Show Speed, Accuracy in Practice

Pictured here is Freshman Bob Godes, 6-ft. 8-in. all-state center from Ellensburg, Wash. Bob led Ellensburg High to second place in the state high school hoop tourney last March, and currently is one of the Papoose "high hopes" in early practice.

After a week of turning out, the freshmen version of Seattle University basketball looks good and should provide some interesting games over the course of the season.

Les Whittles, former Seattle U hoop star, is in his first year as frosh coach and he has the best shooting freshmen bunch that has ever turned out at Seattle U. But even though the team is good, their games won't be pushovers, because the Northwest League, in which they play, is the strongest it has ever been.

Whittles says that he will stress both offense and defense but, like the varsity, principally offense. The squad is fairly big, with only three players under 5 feet 11 inches.

Many of the Papoose contests against freshmen, junior college and independent teams will be preliminaries to the varsity battles scheduled at the Civic Auditorium.

Standouts on the team include Bob Godes, 6'8" All-State center from Ellensburg; Cal Bauer, a speedy and much-heralded basketball and baseball prospect from St. Cloud, Minn., and Larry Sanford from Denver, Colo.

The team turns out every weekday from 3 to 5 p.m. Here is the team roster:

- Bob Andrews, 6'2½", Butte, Mont.
- Cal Bauer, 5'8", St. Cloud, Minn.
- Tom Cashell, 5'11", Butte, Mont.
- Tom Cox, 5'11", Regis, N. Y.
- Don Donahou, 6'0", Chelan, Wash.
- Joe Donahou, 6'1", Chelan, Wash.
- Al Giles, 6'4", Seattle, Wash.
- Bob Godes, 6'8", Ellensburg, Wn.
- Art Hatch, 6'2", Marysville, Wn.
- Bob Hattrup, 6'2", Portland, Ore.
- Wayne House, 6'3", Vashon Isl., Wn.
- John O'Brien, 5'9", Seattle, Wash.
- Larry Sanford, 6'2", Denver, Colo.
- Larry Vennard, 6'0", Burlington, Ia.
- Dan Zender, 5'10", Mt. Baker, Wn.

Stingl to Head Chief Ski Team

Announcement was made last Monday that Karl Stingl would accept the coaching job of the SU ski team for this coming season.

A standout in Northwest racing circles, in 1950 Karl made the F.I.S. team as an alternate. He spent a year teaching at Sun Valley and last year coached at the U. of W.

In a recent meeting with the team, Karl's foremost statement was that, "we can and are going to beat the U. of W. ski squad in college competition this year."

Karl has high hopes for the ski talent he has to work with this season. He should be quite successful because all the boys respect him very much, not only for his coaching ability, but for his tremendous personality.

YELL TEAM

Yell team tryouts will be held Monday evening, Nov. 10, in either Buhr Hall or the gym. Individuals or groups may participate. Judges will be announced later.

Kain, Tooley Lead Bowlers

After two weeks of bowling the Seals and Tigers have the two top positions with 7-2 and 6-2 records, respectively. The Seals also have the two top bowlers in Archie Kain and Patricia Tooley.

Patricia has thus far monopolized honors among the girls. Jack Jones and Theresa Issacson round out the league-leading Seal four. The Tigers are paced by Carlos Amengual and Marilyn Gromko, with able support from Mary Magana and Keith Cochran.

As a result of last week's results the teams are more evenly bunched in the standings. Only the Angels and Cubs were shut out, but both of these teams will be heard from.

Vet Len Jewell, of the White Sox, came through with 178 and 191 games, to indicate that this team will be heard from.

Jerry's Boys Defeats Vets

With six games played, there remain three undefeated teams in intramural play. Jerry's Boys, with two victories, took over the top spot by a win over Vets' Hall last Monday, 20 to 0.

Showing deadly passing, Beta-Tro-A-Pass came through to cop a see-saw battle with the Oinkers, 32 to 19. In two games last week, the Tacoma Boys shellacked the Dons, 33 to 0; and the Suds massacred an undermanned Jones outfit, 42 to 0.

Dividing the flipping chores, Bob Drummey and Pat Coyne passed Jerry's Boys to another win. Their favorite target was Pat More, who scored all three touchdowns in the second half. Although they threatened, Vets' Hall couldn't make a sustained drive.

GAMES COMING UP

Pigskin Poll

Last week's football upsets played havoc with our pickers, and the scores ranged only from two to eight right. The Army-Columbia last-second tie and the Penn-Navy tie further wrecked the predictors' efforts.

Jim Riconosciuto came out on top in the final tabulations, missing the two tie games, USC over Cal, and the Huskies over Stanford. His free carton of Chesterfields is waiting in the SPEC office.

So if you want to get in on the free Chesterfields, turn in your entries to the games below, together with the Washington-OSC score, to the box at the tower door. The top winner will get the carton.

This week's guest expert is none other than the terror of the gulch, the "Big Boy" himself, Charles (Botch) Guinasso. Chuck says he will have no trouble beating Al Brightman's record for last week.

P.S.: Brightman, Botch says if he beats your last week's score you owe him one cigar — and vice versa.

NOSE, THROAT,

and Accessory Organs not Adversely Affected by Smoking Chesterfields

FIRST SUCH REPORT EVER PUBLISHED ABOUT ANY CIGARETTE

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields—10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarettes provided."
